DO YOU FILE A CANADIAN TAX RETURN? OR GET A PENSION FROM THE U.K.?

Pension income received from the U.K. is taxable in Canada

Pension income MUST be reported when filing your Canadian Tax Returns

Taxpayers that have not reported their U.K. pension income get help with:

1. Waive costly Canada Revenue Agency penalties and interest charges imposed for non-reporting of your U.K pension income.
2. In the majority of cases our clients are only re-assessed for 2009-2011 tax years, saving you taxes on all years prior to 2009.
3. And so much more. Whatever your questions or needs are please call.

Steve Reinhard

Professional Corporation

Certified General Accountant

610 O'Connor Drive, Toronto, ON, M4C 3A1

416.423.3327

SteveReinhardcga@rogers.com

DO YOU KNOW?
Splitting of pension income was introduced by Canada Revenue Agency in 2007. We have recovered senior couples over $5,000, when re-filing their Canadian tax returns.