

DO YOU FILE A CANADIAN TAX RETURN? DO YOU RECEIVE A PENSION FROM GERMANY?

German pension income became taxable in Canada as of 2003. German pension income received MUST be reported when filing your Canadian Tax Returns. For those taxpayers that have not yet reported their German pension income, we are here to help in the following ways:

- Waive costly Canada Revenue Agency penalties imposed for non-reporting of your German pension income.
- Our best results are where Canada Revenue Agency re-assesses only your 2010-2012 tax years, versus all 2003-2012 taxation years. (THIS HAS ALLOWED OUR CLIENTS TO SAVE MEGABUCKS)
- Represent your case and prepare the needed paperwork for Canada Revenue Agency to effectively resolve your Canadian tax filings.

SAVE YOURSELF TIME, MONEY AND AGGRAVATION!

Rest assured, we have successfully handled volumes of cases with exceptional results for many satisfied clients to date. We hope to hear from you and we look forward to personally assisting in this matter.

ALSO OF NOTE TO YOU:

Splitting of pension income was introduced by Canada Revenue Agency in 2007. We have recovered senior couples over $5,000, when re-filing their Canadian tax returns.

Could pension splitting save you money too?

Please call and let us help you.

UNCOMPLICATING the COMPLICATED is my duty to you!

Steve Reinhard Professional Corporation Certified General Accountant

Happy to meet your accounting, bookkeeping, personal & corporate tax preparation, small business consulting, incorporation and estate planning needs.

BY APPOINTMENT ONLY

Steve Reinhard, CGA, B.Comm
President

610 O'Connor Drive
Toronto, Ont. M4C 3A1

Office: 416-423-3327
Fax: 416-423-9754

e-mail: stevereinhardcga@rogers.com